JAPANESE MAJOR

The Japanese major provides essential training in language, literature, linguistics and culture in preparation for entering East Asia-related careers in such fields as higher education, the arts, business, government, international relations, or the media. Students may also consider a double major in Japanese and another discipline, such as business, computer science, engineering, government and politics, economics, or journalism.

After completing the prerequisite of one year of language (twelve credits): JAPN 101 (Elementary Japanese I; six hours per week, fall) and JAPN 102 (Elementary Japanese II; six hours per week, spring), students must complete 42 credits for the major course requirements (24 language, six civilization/history, twelve elective). No grade lower than a C (2.0) may be used toward the major.

Japanese Major Requirements

Language: JAPN 201, 202, 301, 302.

Civilization/History: Option 1: HIST 284 and 483 or Option 2: HIST 285 and 482.

Electives: Four 3-credit courses at the 300 level or above. Among the four, one must be in the area of Japanese linguistics and one in Japanese literature, subject to the approval of the student's advisor. See the attached course list for the range of offerings in the program.

Special Language Courses

In addition to the more traditional courses in literature in translation, linguistics, and advanced language acquisition, courses in Japanese business language at the third-year level are offered. Students are also encouraged to spend at least a winterterm, summer or semester in Japan pursuing intensive language study under one or another of the university's exchange programs with foreign universities or at other approved centers of higher education.

Supporting Courses for Japanese

Students are strongly urged to take additional courses in a discipline relating to their particular field of interest, such as art, history, linguistics, literary criticism, or comparative literature. The range of supporting courses can be decided upon in consultation with the student's advisor.

East Asian Studies Certificate

Students are also invited to apply for the East Asian Studies Certificate, which is a 24-credit program designed to provide specialized knowledge of the cultures, histories, and contemporary concerns of the peoples of China, Japan, and Korea. For more information, see <http://www.eascertif.umd.edu/>.
